Simple ideas, about God's nature and about our nature as expressions of God, stir something new in our consciousness. They work in us in ways that change our lives and our health for the better. But how do we find these healing ideas consistently? We'll look at the teachings of Christ Jesus, our best and most practical example. And I'll share how this approach has transformed lives, including a mother who was healed of addiction and her infant daughter who was healed of a skin disease.
